On a Personal Note . . .

After spending my first 13 years in Kansas, I moved to Dorrr, Michigan with my parents and siblings to be closer to our extensive extended family. I was a student at St. Stanislaus School in 7th & 8th grade, attended and graduated from Hopkins High School, and went on to Michigan State University where I obtained my teaching degree.

I headed south for a few years, teaching in Virginia and Georgia along the way. After moving to Atlanta, I decided to pursue a degree in art and design at the University of Georgia, eventually working in the interior design business. After running my own design business for a year or so, God's plan brought me back to Michigan, where I once again found myself at St. Stan's-first as a substitute teacher, and then as the 7th & 8th grade teacher, in my old classroom from my elementary days.

And I've been here ever since! My step-daughter is the fourth generation from our family to graduate from St. Stanislaus School. It has been a very gratifying and fulfilling experience teaching here, among old friends and new-I love every minute of it!
